

Financial security for your loved ones

Life insurance from Aetna

What is life insurance?

Life insurance offers your loved ones basic protection if you die. It can help pay your final expenses. Or it can help those you leave behind pay the mortgage, tuition and more.

Feel good about being prepared

Preparing for the unexpected is important to any financial goal. Based on your union contract, your employer may give you basic term life insurance.

How you can be covered

You are eligible for life insurance under this plan if you:

- Are actively at work
- Have met any probationary period
- Your union contract provides for employer-paid life insurance coverage

Choosing your beneficiary

A beneficiary is the person or legal entity who receives the life insurance payment if the insured person dies. An example of a legal entity is a trust fund you may have set up. You may want to talk to an estate planner, accountant or attorney before choosing your beneficiary.

Name as many beneficiaries as you want

Specify whether you want each to be a:

- Primary beneficiary, or
- Contingent beneficiary

The contingent beneficiary receives a payment only if there is no primary beneficiary entitled to payment. Just remember to complete the beneficiary form, including each person's full name, Social Security number and his or her relationship to you. It is your responsibility to keep your beneficiary designations current.

In case you become disabled

You may remain eligible for life insurance coverage if you were to become disabled prior to age 60, and you are deemed to be totally and permanently disabled for 6 continuous months.

How your benefits change

Your benefit amounts will be reduced over time. When you reach age 65, your benefits will drop to 65 percent of the original coverage amount. At age 70, your benefits will drop to 50 percent. And at age 75, your benefits will drop to 30 percent.

Take your life insurance with you

You can convert your group coverage to an individual life policy if you:

- Leave your job
- Lose eligibility
- Get reduced benefits

Hang on to your life savings

An illness that can end your life can also drain your life savings. The Accelerated Death Benefit is for those who have 24 months or less to live. You can get up to 75 percent of your life insurance coverage amount while you're still alive. Use it to help pay medical bills and other costs.
