4. PROPOSED SAN FRANCISCO HEALTH SERVICE SYSTEM GENERAL FUND BUDGET FISCAL YEARS 2026-27 AND 2027-28 FOR MAYOR'S BUDGET OFFICE SUBMISSION: (Action)

See pdf of the January 20, 2026 Proposed SFHSS GF Budget FY26 27 and FY 27 28

Teresa Tan, SFHSS Chief Financial and Affordability Officer, presented the following items:

- Today's Recommendation for Committee Action
- SFHSS Budget Overview and Challenges
- Mayor's Budget Instructions to Departments
- Current SFHSS Fiscal Year 2025-26 Budget
- SFHSS Budget Submission Approach
- SFHSS Programs and Services
- Proposed SFHSS General Fund (GF) Budget for FY 2026-27 and FY 2027-28
 - Proposed GF Changes
 - Proposed GF Budget
 - Proposed GF Budget FTEs by Division
- Summary of Key Changes to the Proposed GF Changes
- Today's Recommendation for Committee Action

Commissioner Cremen asked how much strain the department would face from losing the 2820 Senior Healthcare Program position. Teresa Tan explained that the loss would amount to 2,080 hours of work and noted that the department was considering how to manage its administrative workload, including responsibilities tied to the multi-region Kaiser plan and the dependent eligibility verification audit (DEVA).

Executive Director Guillen concluded that the department would need to find ways to compensate for the lost staff hours. Executive Director Guillen added that over the past several years, the department's workload had increased due to a growing number of members and longer life expectancies. Despite this, staffing had been reduced year over year. Last year, after the Board approved the proposed budget, the Mayor's Office requested additional cuts, which included services to Aon, the department's actuary, as well as reductions to other contracts such as the Employee Assistance Program (EAP). The department had to move quickly to adjust to these changes. Director Rey Guillen explained that, to address gaps created by budget cuts, the department had to reassign positions last year. Some roles were moved into the Health Sustainability Fund, even though they did not fully align with the fund's charter, which specifies that positions should focus on reducing the overall cost of healthcare or providing wellness services. Guillen noted that this reallocation was part of the alignment the department was proposing this year.

Executive Director Guillen stated that continuing the workload with one less Full Time Equivalent employee (FTE) would be challenging and would require difficult decisions. He indicated that the department might propose eliminating the Kaiser multi-region plan, noting that these plans were not simply added to the existing Kaiser contract but required separate agreements for each region. Each contract involved detailed administration, including explanation of benefits documents and other compliance requirements. Guillen emphasized that maintaining these services under current staffing constraints would be a significant struggle.

He also noted that the department would remove the DEVA from the budget because of limited staff but planned to propose a one-time City-wide DEVA as part of the Mayor's budget instructions. This initiative was estimated to cost about $2 million but projected to save approximately $5 million annually.

Commissioner Cremen explained that the reason for asking the question was concern about sustainability. Cremen stressed the need to either secure additional funding or identify solutions to help the Board maintain staffing levels. Executive Director Guillen emphasized that the challenge was City-wide, noting that finding $400 million in savings for the city was daunting. He stated that the department was already operating "at the bone," with no further cuts possible without impacting operations. Guillen pointed out that the Board had seen the effects of year-over-year staff reductions, such as longer waiting times for members. With the loss of one position, the department would need to eliminate approximately 2,080 hours of services. While the initial cuts identified were chosen to minimize member impact, Guillen cautioned that this was not the full list and additional reductions would likely be necessary. He concluded that the department would present further proposed cuts during the regular rates and benefits process to recover those 2,080 hours. Commissioner Cremen stated that despite saving the city over $60 million last year, the department received no recognition and continued to face repeated budget cuts.

Teresa Tan noted that the senior position eliminated had also been responsible for preparing demographic reports, which were typically due in April. As a result of the position's elimination, the department might not be able to provide this report this year. Executive Director Guillen added that the senior healthcare program planner had been part of the department's former Enterprise Systems and Analytics team, now called Information Systems. This role was critical for extracting data from internal systems to support decision-making and program administration, such as open enrollment communications and reports for the Health Services Board. Guillen emphasized that the former employee had been the key person performing these tasks. While the department would need to continue providing these services, Guillen indicated they were exploring automation options to reduce reliance on manual work. However, he acknowledged that the loss of this position would have a significant operational impact.

Commissioner Cremen asked if there are requirements to use Artificial Intelligence, if Health Service System is using AI and how departments gain funds for AI. Rin Coleridge explained that, like other city departments, the Health Service was in the early stages of evaluating AI use. Staff had used AI for drafting meeting minutes and correspondence but had not implemented it for answering member questions, as that required significant infrastructure and data libraries. Rin Coleridge added that the city had provided tools like Copilot and ChatGPT for tasks such as document drafting, research, translation, and meeting recording. Rin noted that more advanced tools, such as chatbots, required costly licenses, and while the city explored enterprise agreements, departments still paid through work orders. Rin also mentioned an upcoming RFQ to enhance Salesforce tools for member communications, though these features also required additional licensing. When Cremen asked if every department needed its own AI resources, Rin clarified that resources varied by department and that city procurement focused on tools benefiting the entire city rather than specialized needs.

Commissioner Cremen moved to recommend the proposed San Francisco Health Service System General Fund Budget for Fiscal Years 2026-27 and 2027-28 for the Mayor's Budget Office (MBO) submission. Chair Howard seconded the motion

5. PROPOSED SAN FRANCISCO HEALTH SERVICE SYSTEM HEALTHCARE SUSTAINABILITY FUND BUDGET FISCAL YEARS 2026-27 AND 2027-28 FOR MAYOR'S BUDGET OFFICE SUBMISSION: (Action)

Teresa Tan, SFHSS Chief Financial and Affordability Officer, presented the following items:

- Background and Today's Recommendation for Committee Action
- SFHSS Budget Overview and Challenges
- Current SFHSS Fiscal Year 2025-26 Budget
- SFHSS Budget Submission Approach
- Proposed SFHSS Healthcare Sustainability Fund (HSF) Budget for FY 2026-27 and FY 2027-28

 - Proposed Budget by Division
 - Proposed Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) by Division
 - 5-year Projection
- Summary of Key Changes to the Proposed HSF Budget
- Today's Recommendation for Committee Action

Commissioner Cremen asked about postponing the Dependent Eligibility Verification Audit (DEVA) and recalled its prior success, requesting the savings figure. Executive Director Rey Guillen admitted not recalling the exact number but estimated that auditing the entire population could save about $5 million annually, noting the pilot savings were significant. Executive Director Guillen explained that the audit required dedicated staff and pulling two-member staff off phone duties, which increased call-wait times despite successfully identifying ineligible members. Rin Coleridge added that two DEVA audits had been conducted: one in 2018 using an external vendor focused on spouses/domestic partners, saving $2.8 million annually, and another in 2022 covering all dependents except Medicare populations, saving over $85,000 annually for 634 audited members. Rin Coleridge emphasized that in-house audits were unsustainable and shared plans to propose a one-time DEVA using an external vendor, supported by a business case and recent vendor cost inquiries.

Commissioner Cremen emphasized the importance of investing resources to achieve long-term savings, acknowledging that hiring a subcontractor for the DEVA could be a worthwhile expense. Cremen expressed appreciation for the team's efforts and supported the recommendation to avoid shifting more positions from the General Fund to the Health Service Fund, noting concerns about sustainability.

Chair Howard asked for clarification on the memberships with the Pacific Business Group on Health (PBGH) and the Integrated Health Association (IHA). Executive Director Guillen explained that these were multi-employer benefit coalitions, with the Pacific Business Group on Health being the larger organization, including major employers like Google and AAA. The Health Service System had collaborated with them on the advanced primary care initiative with Blue Shield and found them useful for sharing employer initiatives. However, Executive Director Guillen noted that the memberships cost several hundred thousand dollars annually and provided limited value because most member employers operated Preferred Provider Organizations (PPO) plans, which did not align with the Health Service System's Health Maintenance Organization (HMO) environment. As a result, the department decided to suspend these memberships, while continuing to monitor related initiatives through Blue Shield.

Commissioner Cremen moved to recommend the proposed San Francisco Health Service System Healthcare Sustainability Fund Budget for Fiscal Years 2026-27 and 2027-28. Chair Howard seconded the motion.
